The Fisherman and His Wife II

Grimm

Previously:

A fisherman saves a prince of fish, and his wife wishes for a house, but she isn't satisfied...

```
"Husband, I want more. // Go, ask for a castle." //
  "I don't want to." //
  "Ask. // The fish can say no." //
  "But..." //
  "Go!" //
He goes to the sea, / the dark sea, / and says, /
  "Oh Prince of Fish / please hear my wish. //
   If not, my wife / will ruin my life!" //
  "What is your wish?" / asks the fish. //
  "My wife wants a castle." //
  "Go home, // She has one." //
The wind blows. // The sky is black. // He walks home. //
The house is gone.// There is a big castle. //
The fisherman is happy. // His wife is happy. //
They go to sleep. // They wake up. // His wife is angry... //
```
